

Braxton County Senior Center

Have you noticed just the slightest change in weather? While the days are still comfortable in temperature, Fall is starting to make itself known in so many lovely ways. The Harvest Moon is schedule to shine brightly tonight and our trees are just starting to show a bit color.

Over at the Braxton County Senior Center, members and staff have the good fortune of enjoying color and greenery in every season.

Their volunteer gardener, Wanda Peters (wearing bright green) loves to beautify and care for the many beautiful flowers all around their building and walking trail. Some members of the center pitch in but Ms. Peters does all the flower gardens herself! From bringing in plants and soil to spraying the plants with her own recipe of "deer repellent," the center and its members can enjoy time and beauty in the garden or strolling on the trail all year round. It truly is a labor of love.
