

Commissioner Denise Worley

Commissioner Denise R. Worley was appointed Commissioner of the West Virginia Bureau of Senior Services in March 2023 by Governor Jim Justice.

Commissioner Worley holds a B.A. in Social Work and an M.A. in Counseling. She earned both degrees from Marshall University.

Prior to her recent appointment Commissioner Worley was CEO for eight years at Stonerise Beckley a transitional care center serving short and long-term patients in Raleigh County. Additionally, she worked as a nursing home administrator with Genesis Healthcare. She also has a depth of experience in assisted living and home health.

She has been licensed as both a nursing home administrator and a licensed social worker for over twenty years.

“I am pleased to bring my years of experience working with the elder population to the Bureau of Senior Services,” said Commissioner Worley. “It is my passion to serve the seniors of West Virginia.”

Commissioner Worley is a Raleigh County native. She currently resides in Beckley with her husband and daughter.
